

SHAME AND BLAME

Vandals come in many shapes and sizes
To obvious to offer new surprises
Such ugly heads appear throughout the nation
Our tame result, until now, is damage limitation.

A brand of vandalism that is different, yet the same
Can be placed on wretched characters, that some of us could name.
Each town and city in this land has suffered deep distress
Through lack of civil spirit, the cause of all this mess.

Heathrow Airport through the years has spread so far and wide.
An ambition that just might have filled the owners with great pride.
But if one looks back to prove the many wonders they acclaim
We also need to look and prove just whom of these to blame.

To seek another runway after all that has gone before
Will suffocate the citizens who clearly do deplore
The loss of homes that they have owned until their planned demise
Without this dishonest movement there is much more to despise.

An added proposition our residents never could agree
Is the unwise plan to build a road to “Runway Three”
This road to run straight through the district Cemetery
The final resting place of those, who rest, in perpetuity.
